TO WHICH CLASS?

There are two classes of Parisians in Paris, Ky., to-day. One class is composed of those who stand squarely behind their country in this, her hour of greatest need and trial. They are the men who thrust themselves between the nation and the foe.

The other class is far too contemptible for serious consideration. It gushes from the sewer of infamy. It is rich in draft evaders. You young men who have attained to twenty-one since last June 5 will be confronted this June 5 with the privilege of joining either class.

Boys of Paris, which class shall it be with you?

JUNE COURT DAY.

June court day was but a repetition of the many that have gone before. But little stock on the local market, and a few changed hands at fair prices. There was an active demand for mules and horses, and the demand very well supplied at good prices.

Farmers were generally too busy with their work to come to town, and those who were in spent most of their time discussing the scarcity of labor, and in endeavoring to get men to go to the farm. The musical coon, medicine vender, the ever-present, equally noisy, and the ever-present and just as noisy singing and shouting "evangelist" were on the job, as usual, much to the discomfort and annoyance of the majority of people.

ORPHANS HAVE A GOOD TIME

The children from the I. O. O. F. Home, at Lexington, had a fine time in this city Saturday afternoon when they were guests of the city and the members of the local I. O. O. F. lodge. They came to the number of about one hundred and sixty, on two special interurban cars, from Lexington at 2:15 o'clock, and paraded down Main street, to the court house, where they gave a concert.

The Girls' Orchestra was first on the program, and rendered a number of excellent musical selections, which showed they had received splendid training. The girls were liberally applauded, and responded with encores of a pleasing character. The Boys Band also came in for a large share of attention from the music-loving people of the city and county, as their part of the program with their usual ease and grace of expression. At the conclusion of the program, Hon. E. M. Dickson delivered an address which was full of feeling and well received by the little people and by the older ones, as well.

Following the exercises at the court house the children were given a reception at the local I. O. O. F. lodge room, where they were treated to delicacies and made to feel just at home. They returned to Lexington on the 5:30 interurban car, happy and delighted with the afternoon's pleasures.
